

“Where does my mind wander during a day-dream? My thoughts follow the pattern of BLOOM. Its design has the randomness and chaos of unprovoked thought combined with the structure of our imagination’s inevitable return to reality. The lines can mean everything or nothing at all, though their creative journey in space always leads back to their source. BLOOM has the unique ability to blend into a well-designed space, providing food for thought and provoking the imagination.”

Greg Finney, 2modern Design Talk, New York

Greg Finney is co-founder of design blog 2modern Design Talk (<http://2modern.blogs.com>), which is produced by a loose consortium of designers, artists and furniture connoisseurs and has a worldwide following. Greg Finney divides his time between New York and California and as buyer for the 2modern Store has his finger constantly on the pulse.
